Editorial Correspondence of the Scatinel. Cuicago, Wednesday, May 16, 1860. The "sun of Austerlitz" shone brightly or-r Chicago to day. A glorious Spring morning ushered in the meeting of the National Republican Convention. The whole city was astir at an early hour. In addition to the Belegates, thousands of anxious spectators through the streets; and long before the hour appointed for the opening of "the Wigwan," a vast crowd had collected about morning ushered in the meeting of the Na-

glorious triumph in November.

The Convention will adopt its platform to morrow, and, in all probability, get through with its work before Saturday.

CHICAGO, Thursday, May 17, 1860. The convention adjourned yesterday afternoon, after a brief business session, to meet again at 10 o'clock this morning. Long before that hour a vast crowd, that no man could number, clustered around the several entrances to the "Wigwam," most auxious to obtain admittance; and when the doors were opened, the rush was tremendous. In a very few minutes, the Wigwam; spacious as it is, was crowded to overflowing and still enough were left outside to fill an other equally large edifies.

The Convention and the Reporters pocupied the platform, while THE PROPLE, men and women, took complete possession of the rest of the building. When Mr. ASHMUN called the Convention to order at 10 o'clock, there must have been TEN THOUSARD persons beneath the roof of the Republican Wigwam. After a fervent prayer from one of the Ministers of Chicago, the Committees on the order of business and on credentials submitted their respective reports. The latter was first considered, and gave rise to an assimated debate. Pennsylvania, through Da-VID WILMOT, objected to admitting one or two of the Southern States, on the ground that the delegates did not represent an organiz-d party. Maryland, Virginia and Texas protested against this. Ultimately the whole report was referred back to the Committee, and the Convention, at 1 o'clock, adjourned until 3 P. M. At the hour fixed the Convention re-assembled, the building being filled again to suffocation. The Committee on Credentials promptly submitted their report, allowing Maryland, Virginia, Kentucky, Texas, Dela- and the votes to which they are entitled: ware, Kansas, Nebraska and the District of Columbia, a voice and vote in the Conven-New Hampshire tion. The report was adopted by acclamation. Next came the report of the Committee on Business, who submitted rules for the government of the Convention. There was no difference of opinion about any of these rules, er opt the fourth; which requires a majority of the entire electoral vote of the Cason to nominate candidates for President and Vice-President. The minority of the Committee proposed an amendment to this rule, making a majority of the electoral votes of the States represented in the Convention n cossary to a nomination. After a short and animated debate, the amendment of the minority was adopted, on a call of the roll organize a Territory under Douglas docof States, by 333 1-2 votes to 118 1-2.

Next came the report of the Committee on Resolutions, who, through their Chairman, Judge Jesser, of Pennsylvania, submitted the following:

The following is the letter from Col. John from Chicago yesterday :

In DEAR SIR:—I have had the satisfac-tion to receive your thoroughly sineare and friendly letter of the 8th from San Francisco, and have to thank you equally for the warmth with which you urge your prepos-sessions in my favor, and for your very strong expressions of regret for the position I have taken.

Since the campaign of 1856, I have been laboriously occupied with my private affairs, and so exclusively, that I have been entirely shut off from the political life of the country. In the beginning of that contest, if I had neither political prestige nor party organiza-tion, I had at least no organized bodies oppos-ed to my nomination. Now the case is wholly different. You will give full faith to what I say, when I tell you that I have personally no desire for the Presidency; but I do most no desire for the Presidency; but I do most earnestly desire to preserve undiminished, the great honor which the vote of the North reflected upon me in that campaign.

In this respect, it would be no benefit to myself, and certainly none to the party which I wish to serve, if under these circumstances I were brought before the Convention where I could be only one of the elements of discord. I prefer, on the curtary, to contribute as much as possible to its harmony, and leave it, to this extent, more free to make a

In such an event the nomination would be accepted, of course, the choice of the party, and not as the result of a struggle for a nomination-int this, I resion of so much importance to me, I am to punish a man (who never did anything ried out by himself, has succeeded in extractright,) for making a mistake, and the idea ing the very root of the corn, in a scientific of holding Marshal Lewis responsible for his acts is preposterous. Children, lunaties and Marshal Lewis are not accountable beings.— Stupidity and innocence are thus linked together, the deficiency of one being more than overbalanced by the redundancy of the other. The Marshal finishes his manifesto thus: "I publish this card to inform the people of the extent of my offending, and to enter my solemn Protest against a prosecution which originated in malice, and was urged on by a volunteer counsel, (my personal one-my,) to punish a mistake." The solemnity of the protest, it is to be hoped, will lay like a mighty incubus on the matter and forever prevent it from being stirred up.

IMPROVEMENTS IN THE FOURTH WARD .-We publish this morning the list of new buildings and Improvements going on in the Fourth Ward, for which we are indebted to CALES WALL. The footing up, $84,500, is act as large as we expected, because we had the impression that Rees' block and the othr new buildings on West Water street, which have been completed and occupied only a few weeks, would come into this year's improvements, but instead of that, the list ouly embraces buildings now in process of erection or contracted fer.

Mr. Wall thinks it probable that he has omitted some contemplated buildings, as in several instances going through the Ward he came across piles of brick, but could not ascertain for what purposes they were intended. It is his intention to sum up the im. provements in all the Wards in the shape of a general recapitulation, after taking each separately, about the middle of next week. and if there are any alterations or additions to be made, the parties do so are requested to inform Mr. Wall of the same before that time. Every person who has any pride in the growth and progress of the city should willingly assist Mr. Wall in the good work

It is said that such an interest was never before known in that section of the country.-JOHN FILLMORE, of this city, was last heard of on an express for Pike's Peak. --- Public THE BEST EVIDENCE in the world that Christianity is advancing is found in the fact that the walls between the sects are growing opinion is all powerful; it makes and it unmakes men, it exalts to honor, and 't crushes with irresistable power just as it takes a notion: but we don't believe public opinion will be able to affect anything in relation to A MAN is the happiest when he thinks the least either of health or happiness. ## Improsements in Milwankee.

Corner of B. Water and Michigan sts., May 17, '60, This morning you have a statement of the mprovements in the Fourth Ward. It is astonishing to see the improvements going on in this Ward. One would scarcely believe it until they go and see for themselves. On West Water street, south of Spring streetthere are some fifteen or twenty new brick stores, just finished, and very handsome and conv.nient, which, I find, are taken possession of by some of our principal wholesale dealers, who formerly occupied stores in East Water street. Our old friend JAMES Bonnell occupies three stores on the corner of Clybourn and West Water streets; he has an immense stock of dry goods and groceries. In going into his store, one would think they were going into one of the largest wholesale stores in New York city. Mr. Bonnell seems delighted with his new stores, and he is doing an extensive business-more than he has ever done before. The truth is, we want more wholesale dry goods stores in Milwaukee, if we want to get the North-Western trade. Half a-dozen more wholesale dry goods houses would do a large business. West Water street, when it is finished up to the grade, will be very much improved; but, to be honest, I think they will have hard pulling of it to begin to compete with East And others. Do not forget the HALF-FARE Water street. There will and should be and EXTRA TRAIN on the Milwaukee and business enough for both; but East Water street will ever be the valuable business

Music for the Public .- "Citizen with Ears" sends us a communication suggesting that one of our brass bands be engaged to play nightly in some public place where pedestrians most do congregate. "Citiz en's" communication is too long to print but we coincide with him in regard to the advantages of the thing and hardly think the subject needs so much arenment to make its "noint" apparent. It is true that in several of the large cities the people are regaled with good music o' Summer evenings and we can see no insurmountable obstacles in the way of our being similarly blessed.

DENADEUL, INDEED.-A correspondent of the Wisconsin narrates a fight between two women on a La Crosse train of cars, and

The car was filled with locks of "har"—hair wisps and hair in curts, fragments of bonnets, cal and hooped skirts, blood, &c. all the tapestry and varnish, and smothering the innocent passengers. This is the height of the sauguinary.

Correction.-We erroneously stated, on Wednesday, that Mr. P. C. HALE was the loser by the fire which resulted in the death of so many horses. In this we were wrong. Mr. Augustus E. Haze was the owner of the property destroyed, and the loss falls heavily upon him. We hear there is a project on foot to lend him a helping hand, to commence again. It is a praireworthy effort, and Mr. HALE is deserving of it.

Such are the terms of the save-holding Senator describes that great body of hardy and laborious men who, in the hope of securing a home, and a farm for them-selves and their families, encounter all the hardships and privations incident to settlement on the frontier.

Not content with all this, the Senatur, in the cestacy of his passion against land for the landless, and homes for the homeless, goes still further. He denounces the bill as a piece of robbery, and as striking at the root of government, by taking property from some and giving it away to others. To make out this point, he sets up the idea that the mubic lands are not the groverty of the clit. public lands are not the property of the citi-rus individually, and of him, Mr. Green, among the rest; and he indignantly asks, "What is there honest and truthful in tafabric so delicate that a rude touch would rend it, and imprints upon it in the twinkling of an eye that which cost hours to compose. If you have read the constitution you will remember that there are only two estates in Congress—the Senate and House of Represional interest and truthful in taking my property and giving it to some poor, inflamous secondrel? But if Mr. Green has a private and personal interest in the public lands, the same is true of all other citizens; just as true of the frontier settler to whom he applies such contemptuous and disparaging epithets as of the homental disparaging epithets as of the homental disparaging epithets as of the homental disparaging epithets as of the frontier settler to whom he applies such contemptuous and disparaging epithets as of the lonorable Senator himself. In this view of the matter there is no gift in the case. If every citizen has a joint interest in the public lands, the same is true of all other citizens; just as true of the frontier settler to whom he applies such contemptuous and disparaging epithets as of the homental and there is no gift in the case. If every citizen has a joint interest in the public lands, the same is true of all other citizens; just as true of the frontier settler to whom he applies such contempts and other citizens; just as true of the frontier settler to whom he applies such contents the interest may be such content to the content of the frontier settler to whom he applies such contents the interest may be such content to the case. BY LAST NIGHT'SREPORT The Republican National Convention

CHICAGO, May 17-9 P. M. The Convention re-assembled at 3 o'clock The Committee on Credentials again reported, giving Virginis 23 votes, Kentucky 23, Oregon 5, Maryland 11, Texas 6. The reportions adopted. The vote in the above States is cut down below the full double electoral vote.

The report of the committee on business The report of the committee on business and roles was then taken from the table; the second rule giving delegates at large four votes, and each Congressional District two votes, except as modified by the committee on credentials, was anunded by providing that no more votes shall be cast than there that no more votes shall be cast than there are delegates present and adopted.

The rule, as amended, was then adopted. The Conneittee on Platform reported a series of resolutions, declaring, among other things, that the carrying slavery into Territories is a dangerous political heresy, branding the re-cut re-opening of the slave trade as acciust humanity; and declaring that Kausas should be immediately admitted as a State an ler the Constitution recently adopted. That sound policy requiring such an actistment of daties on imports so as to encurrage and develope industrial interests of the country; also declares in favor the free industrial jolicy, river and harbor improvements, and a railroad to the Pacific; opposes my change in the present naturalization laws and in favor of giving full protection to citizens either at home or abroad. Hop. David Witner, in assuming the temporary chairmanship of the Republican National Conv. nti n, made the following belef and stirring speech:

I have no words in which properly to exprocessing sense of the honor—and the undeserved honor, I think it is—of being called upon to preside t-imporarily over the deliberations of this Convention.

I shall not attempt a task which I feel inand quate to perform. Be sure, gentlemen, that I am not insensible to this high and undeserved honor. I shall carry the recoilection of it, and of your manifestation of partia ity, with me until the day of my death it is not moressary for me, fellow-citizens, renti men, delegates, to remind you of the amportance of the occasion that has called renti men, delegates, to remind you of the importance of the occasion that has called this assemblage together; nor of the high duties which divolve upon you. A great sectional and aristocratic party, or interest, has for years dominated with a high hand over the political affairs of this country. That interest has pre-sted and is now wrosting, all the great powers of this government to the one object of the extension of Slavery. It is our purpo e gentlemen—it is the mission of the R-publican party and the basis of its organization, to resist this policy of a sectional interest. It is our mission to restore this government to its original policy and place it again in that rank upon which our latters organized and brought it into existance. It is our purpose and our policy to resist these new Constitutional dogmas, that Sieverylaists by virtue of the Constitution wherever the hanner of this Union floats.

It is our purpose to restore the Constitution to the original meaning; to give to it its true interpretation; to read that instrument as our fathers read it. [Applause,] That true interpretation; to read that instrument as our fathers read it. [Applause.] That instrument was not ordained and established for the purpose to extend slavery within the limits of this country; it was not ordained and established for the purpose of giving guarantees and securities to that institution. Our fathers regarded slavery as a blot upon this country. They went down to their graves with the exruest hope and confident belief, that but a few more years and that had would be extinguished from our land. Nuch applause.] This was the faith in which they died. [Applause.] Had the propositions been presented to them in the early conflicts of the revolution, or outside of that grand movement, that they were callof that grand movement, that they were called upon to endure the hazards, trials and sacribles of that long and perilons contest for the purpose of establishing on this continent a great slave empire not one of them would have drawn his sword in such a cause. Upon the students of the students. treat applause ]

No citia no! This republic was established for the purpose of securing the guaranties of liberty, of justice and of righteousness to the propie and to their posserity. That was the great object with which the revolution was fought, these were the purposes for which the Union and the Constitution were formed. Stavery is sectional. Liberty na-turnic, [humenes applause.] Follow-citizens: Need I remaind this intelent and rest audience; need I call to mind the intelligent gentlemen who represent to the intelligent gentlemen who represent the various States represented upon this floor, manifestations of lawless violence, of tyrrany such as the world never saw in a civiliz d and Christian land that is manifested by this sparit of sixvery. Whose rights are safe where sixvery has the power to trample them under foot? Who to day is not more free to after his opinions within the empire of Russia, or under the shadow of the despot-ism of Austra than he is within the limits of ism of Austria than he is within the limits of Som of Austria than he is within the limits of the slave States of this republic?

Will their tyranny be confined to those States where they have the power to enforce it upon us? [Voices—"No!never!"] We concite liberty which we to-day we enjoy in the free States to the absence of slavery—And, fellow citizens, and we, in building up this steal Empire of ours, in fulfilling that logh and sacred trust imposed upon us by our fathers—shall we support this blighting, this demoralizing institution throughout the vast extent of our borders? [Voices, loud-ly—"No!"] Or shall we preserve this land as a free land to our posterity forever? These are the principles for which the Republican party is struggling. publical party is struggling.

Fellow-citizens, the safety of our liberty, the security of all we hold valuable, demands that we should take possession of this government and administer it upon those broad Constitutional doctrines that we recognized for the first airty years of the existence of our government—that were recognized by Washington, by Jefferson, by Adams, by Madison, by Mouroe, by Adams the younger, by Jackson, by Yan Buren, or even down to the time of Polk, when this new dogma was marted that the Constitution was established to guarantee to slavery retreated lished to guarantee to slavery perpetual ex-

Hoping, f-llow-citizens, that a spirit of patriotism and harmony will guide us to a fortunate r-sult in our deliberations. I am have ready to enter upon the duties which here been assigned to me." [Great Ap-

Chors in Missorat,-Last week we made a little ton

Chors in Missocial.—Last week we made a little tour through the east part of the county, and were very agreeably disappointed in the appearance of wheat. Many fields which a mooth ago looken as if they would hardly ried enough for seed, now have the appearance of turning out a pretty fair crop, and such as have looked any way promising during the early part of the spring, wil, if nothing happens, make a large yield. Onts look fine and will be a good crop, if seasonance till harves.

The corn is only being planted, and if the industry of the farmers is an indication of a good crop, we will have a super-abundance, as all are engaged in piant ing or preparing to piant.

Richiand county will produce more grain this year than at any previous time, and we may Safely anticipate that for the next fitteen years there will be a steady increase in the farm products of our country.—Othery Times,

Platte County.—There was never as discouraging a steady increase in the farm products of our country,— Oliney Times.

Platte County,—There was never as discouraging a propert for crops in Platte county since it has been a county, as this season. There has not been rain enough to lay the date for two months, until tast Monday evening, when there was a slight shower, but not enough to do much good. The wheat, rgs, barley and onts crops are total fultures—not one in ten will make the seed, 'The gress crop will not produce a Pall yield; the hempin many places has falled to come op.
The frost has destroyed oil vegetable matter. Fruits are all killed except on the high ringes; even the leaves on the locust trees and puwpaw bushes are all killed
